

The National English Literary Museum invites the youth to participate in the exhibition 'Humanature'.

Submit your photographs and writing!

Humanature explores the complex relationship between humans and nature in this time of ecological crisis. The health of the Earth for future generations is threatened by plastic and other forms of pollution, climate change and unsustainable use of resources, among others. Many people, however, are making brave efforts to address the ecological crisis.

NELM invites the youth (ages 14 to 35) to participate in Humanature and submit photographs that demonstrate environmental issues and/or their solutions. Images should preferably be accompanied by a short written piece (max 150 words) that describes their significance. The images and writing must be original work. Writing may be in any of South Africa's national languages. Images can be taken on any device or camera.

Images and writing can be sent over email to exhibition curator Tom Jeffery at t.jeffery@nelm.org.za; or over Wettransfer, Dropbox or similar. Remember to provide your name and contact details.

Deadline for participation: 31 May 2018
